THE AMERICAN LEGION TEAMS UP WITH STARS AND STRIPES

Century-old allies renew vow to connect deployed troops with nation's largest veterans service organization.

A relationship that began over a century ago between The American Legion and Stars and Stripes is refreshed this year through a new media-sharing agreement.

Members of The American Legion can receive 50 percent discounts on annual subscriptions to the Stars and Stripes digital platform of exclusive military news, topics of interest to veterans, special features, photos and other content, including the daily e-newspaper, job listings and history. American Legion members can subscribe for $19.99 a year by visiting legion.stripes.com and using the coupon code LEGIONSTRONG when filling out the online form.

The American Legion, in return, will be able to publish stories, social media messages and provide information about programs and services in Stars and Stripes throughout the next year in editorial, social media and advertising spaces. Stars and Stripes has a daily audience of over of 1 million worldwide.

On March 7, 1919, Stars and Stripes announced in its Europe editions plans for a “Liberty League” meeting in Paris among veterans of the American Expeditionary Forces still stationed there after World War I. The meeting, March 15-17 that year, would become known as the Paris Caucus, which created The American Legion. Assigned to cover the gathering for Stars and Stripes was Pvt. Harold W. Ross, who would find himself serving on the Legion’s original Committee on Constitution. Ross later worked as an editor for The American Legion Magazine before co-founding The New Yorker magazine in 1925, where he was editor-in-chief for the rest of his life.

“The American Legion has had a long and historic relationship with Stars and Stripes over the years,” American Legion Media & Communications Commission Chairman Walter Ivie said. “This renewed relationship represents a confluence of long-trusted brands that offer much for each other’s media audiences. We look forward to sharing our stories of service with foreign-deployed troops. We also certainly look forward to having the kind of top-quality journalism Stars and Stripes has been producing since the Civil War in our digital and social media platforms. Stars and Stripes is, and always has been, the gold standard of fair and accurate military coverage.”

MYLEGION.ORG TOOLS

All Hands,

If you are on myLegion and using the site to track your membership, GREAT! If you have checked in and not returned, please consider coming back to the myLegion and use the great tools open to your Post.

Why use myLegion? I don't have the time to discuss all the possibilities at this moment but will provide some info at the 2nd District meeting.

1. myLegion provides an up to date list of your Post membership as well as a list of current paid, deceased, expired membership etc., easy to access and read. You see what National and Department sees.
2. myLegion provides weekly updates on online paid memberships so you can send them a current membership card and track them.
3. myLegion provides an address tool to make mailing stickers
4. myLegion has a tool to list of lapsed and prospective membership in your area for recruiting purposes.

It also has a member finder ability as well as the opportunity for the Post to set up a message and newsletter board.

I check mylegion daily (or more as Post Adjutant, I'm working on membership). You will see over 1800 checks so far for Post 148. That may be excessive. Each Post Adjutant should be checking at least once or twice a week to see changes in online membership. There are tools available for you to download a listing of your membership that will make it easier for you to check off membership as it comes in either by "stubby pencil" or on your computer. You do have to register with National to get online. After that, it is a GREAT tool. Please consider checking it out. It will make your workload easier.
